"Formulae for Success"

Mr. Praveen Panthula, Talent Development Consultant, Franklin Templeton, Hyderabad addressed (on 14-09-2018) the II year B. Tech students on Formulae for Success. He was highlighted that Success is achieved through various means. Sometimes the process takes a while, before one actually succeeds. If you're feeling stagnant, it's worth giving your career a little boost. He quoted factors and characteristics that the most successful managers share, methods which contribute to their legacies. Discover which 5 traits to focus on developing, and learn the secret formula for success.

During his interaction with students, he emphasized the following characteristics:

The Right Attitude

Attitude plays an enormous role in one's professional success. Successful executives are ambitious, and never doubt their own skills. Because of their strong self-confidence, they know what they're capable of, and that they will succeed.

For these managers, it's already clear that their achievements will result from perseverance and diligence. Professional success cannot be achieved in a day, but rather, through years of hard work and setbacks.

Successful professionals don't allow mistakes or failures to affect their positivity. They also recover from situations others may not. In fact, they see failure as an opportunity to grow and develop.

"Train him/her self to succeed by not allowing failures to slow you down." Face your mistakes by asking these questions:

What could I have done differently?

How can I avoid the same mistake in the future?

Set Realistic Goals

Executives set clear, detailed goals for themselves, goals that they can measure. They pursue them, diligently and without distraction. Extremely ambitious goals stay at the top of the list, but the smartest executives also set smaller milestones to get closer in the short- and mid-term. In this way, they determine what they're striving towards, and they feel confident in their decisions.

"Train yourself to succeed" by taking detailed notes on:

What does success mean to you?

What do you want to achieve, in the short-term and in the long-term?

Why do you want to reach these goals?

After considering these questions, establish the goals, and note them somewhere you won't misplace them. Define how you're going to achieve these goals. For now, concentrate only on what actions you can take to come closer to accomplishing these goals.

Winning Charisma

When someone with exceptional charisma enters a room, the occupants are immediately invisible. Successful executives radiate confidence, sovereignty, professionalism and wisdom.

To move closer to cracking the secret formula to success, work on optimizing your charisma, in three steps:

1. Build up your self-confidence by getting to know your strengths. Find out:

What are you great at and Where do your skills and talents lie?

2. Train your communication skills by learning:

how to - communicate quickly and clearly;

how to ask the right questions at the right time

how to listen to others, and get the most out of your conversations

3. Improve your body language, by paying attention to the following:

Keep your legs spread hip width apart, hold your head high, smile on your face.

Strengthen your Willpower

Motivation and willpower, when combined properly are two of the most important factors for success. Answer the following questions to find out what drives you:

As a child, what activities brought you the most pleasure?

Which tasks bring you the most satisfaction to accomplish?

What topics interest you the most?

How do you see your life in five years? ten? twenty?

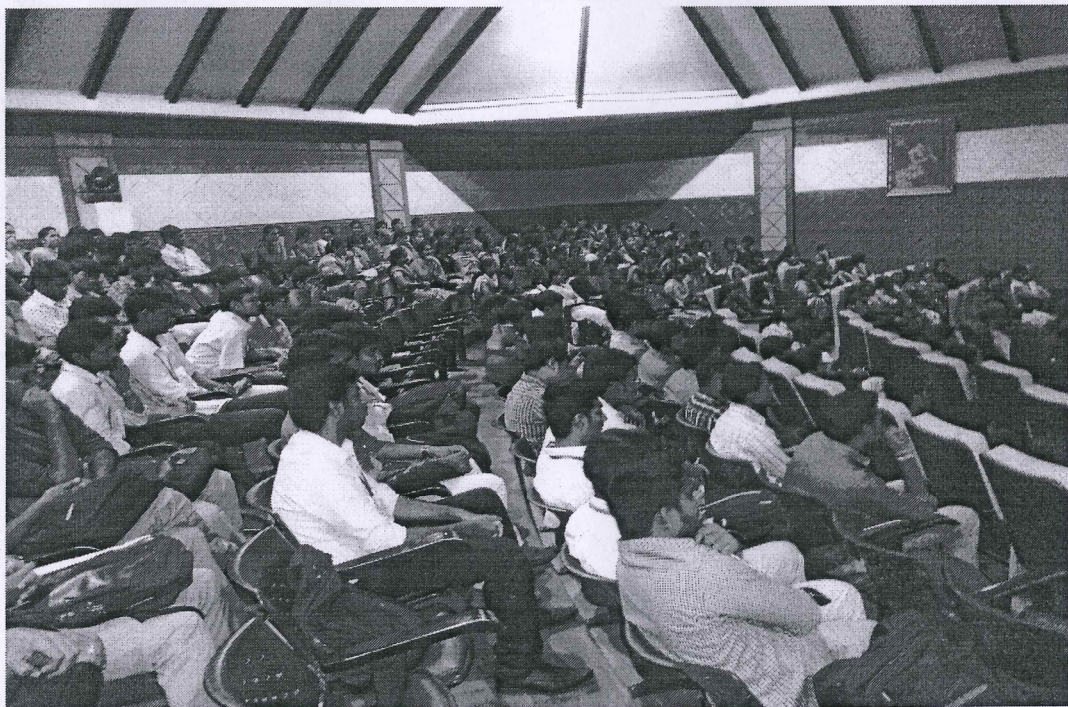

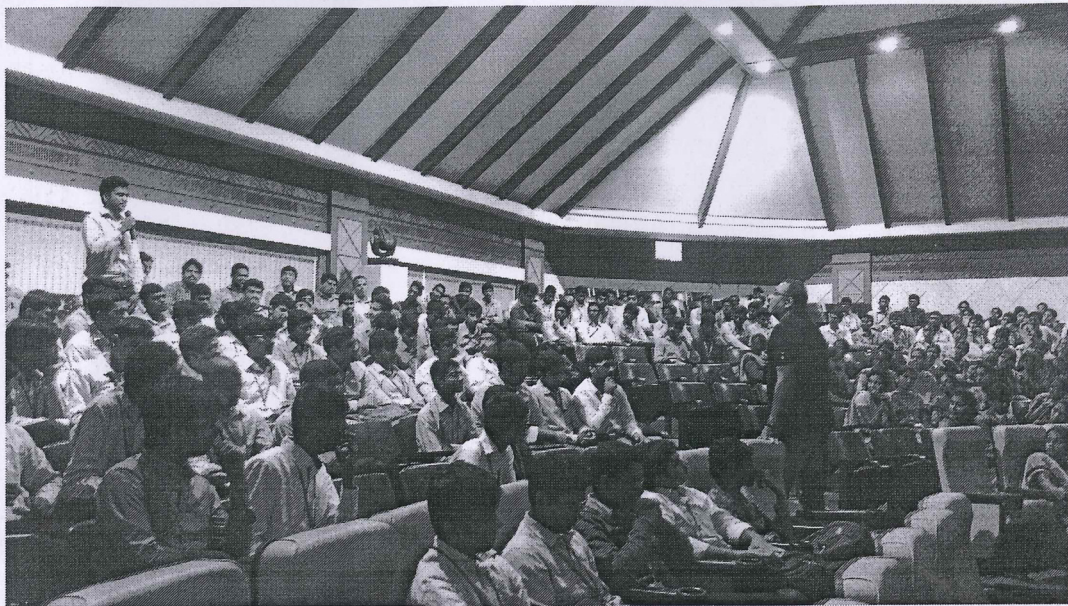

Strengthen your willpower by: Focusing your attention on clear goals concentrate on the most important things in your life and live according to your values.

Build Up Your Mental Strength - "Mental strength" refers to the resilience of executives in difficult situations. Resilient executives can also activate their psychological power in difficult situations in order to overcome tough obstacles.

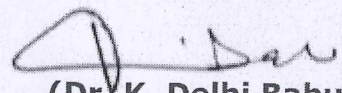

To establish your mental strength:

Remember situations where you called upon your resiliency. Prepare yourself in advance for challenging situations, to react more confidently. Always reassure yourself that you will accomplish what you set out to do. Visualize how the task can and will be successfully completed.

Use this secret formula for success: push onward with your goal in clear view, and work diligently to optimize and improve your current circumstances – success will follow.

"Inducement Talks"

November 06, 2018

Ms. V. Lakshmi Krupa, presently working as Software Engineer, CGI, Bangalore (Alumni of IT) has delivered a Guest Lecture on "Inducement Talks" to I B.Tech.(IT) and about 52 students participated in this event.

Ms. V. Lakshmi Krupa addressing the Students
Target Group: I B.Tech. IT (B)

Department of Information Technology

Ms. V. Lakshmi Krupa shared her experiences and struggles while attending off-campus interviews. She explained the students how engineering education is helpful in working environment. She suggested these students to concentrate more on Networking, Database, Linux, Software Engineering and Design subjects in engineering.

She also motivated the students by sharing success stories in the relevant field. The students received many insights about their future plans.
