5. Assistive Technology and Facilities for Persons with Disabilities (Divyangjan) - Accessible Website, Screen-Reading Software (NVDA Software)

Non-Visual Desktop Access (NVDA) software allows blind and vision impaired people to access and interact with the Windows operating system and many third party applications. NVDA supports popular applications including web browsers such as Mozilla Firefox and Google Chrome, email clients, internet chat software, music players, and office programs such as Microsoft Word and Excel. It also supports for many refreshable Braille displays, including input of Braille via Braille displays that have a Braille keyboard. It can be run entirely from a USB flash drive or other portable media without the need for installation. The software is installed at various locations of the institute, at Digital Library, Central Library and Computer Centre.
