The programme emphasised the equality of treatment for men and women based on their requirements. The resource person stressed the relevance of the word "equality" interpretation, as it represents both a challenge and an opportunity. As a result, equality was further presented as both a challenge and an opportunity, followed by clarification on the contrast between equity and equality. Different activities, natural gender disparities, laws for women, inequalities, child labour, and gender stereotypes were also addressed. Finally, the students expressed their thoughts on the motivational session.
